

LATIN AMERICA

At Jordex Shipping & Forwarding we aim to support our clients in maximizing on the business opportunities in Latin America. We achieve this by doing what we do best: by streamlining our clients' logistical processes.

Investing in local knowledge and relationships is essential in order to successfully enter Latin American markets, and this also applies to the logistics sector. Considering the wide disparity in geographic terms as well as quality of infrastructure throughout the Latin American region, Jordex is able to overcome any logistical challenge through its specialized services.

Our Latin America Desk offers the full spectrum of transportation of your goods to and from Latin America, including sea freight, air freight and road transportation. Due to our extensive experience and excellent agency network in the region we are able to provide the most complete service at a local level, regardless of the product or the size of your shipment.
